

Stacey's Death in Auto Collision Monday Brings Ulster Death Toll to Six

Half-Dozen Automobile Accident Deaths in County Since First of Year Reached with Mishap Yesterday.

HEAD-ON CRASH

Report to Police States Stacey Crashed Into Kelly Car Head-on After Starting to Pass.

The death of Fred A. Stacey, 64, of Walden, as the result of an auto accident north of the Oscar Tschirky farm, on the Kingston-New Paltz highway, about 5:30 Monday night, brought the total of automobile fatalities in Ulster county since the first of the year up to six.

Seriously injured at the time of the collision which resulted in Mr. Stacey's death, was his wife, Clara Stacey, 45, who suffered a possible fracture of the skull, a broken jaw, broken nose and other injuries. She is at the Kingston Hospital under the care of Dr. Chester B. Van Gaasbeek and her condition this morning was reported to be serious. Also at the hospital, less severely injured, is Mrs. Mary Kelly, wife of John A. Kelly, 50, of 47A Sherman Place, Jersey City, driver of one of the cars involved in the accident.

Moved to Walden Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Stacey, until recently, had been living at 195 Wisner avenue, Newburgh, but for three or four weeks past had made their home with Mr. Stacey's brother-in-law, Adam Uverson, of Walden. At the time of the accident they were returning from Phoenixville, where they had been visiting a camp near that place, with Mr. Uverson. They were traveling with two cars, Mr. Uverson being some distance ahead of the Staceys and knowing nothing of the accident until he drove back to find out what was delaying them.

Corporal Norman Baker, of the state police, who made an investigation, was told that the accident happened when Stacey apparently attempted to pass a car ahead of him and going in the same direction, but saw the Kelly car coming toward him and tried to get back into line. He was unable to make it, however, and the Stacey and Kelly cars came together in what was practically a head-on collision. The cars are said to have been traveling at the rate of 35 or 40 miles an hour at the time of the collision.

Tried to Avoid Crash

Kelly told Corporal Baker that he did everything possible to avoid striking the approaching car, attempting to turn off on to the shoulder of the road, but was unable to do so; at the same time he turned off the ignition on his car. Mr. Stacey was taken to the Kingston Hospital by Ralph DeWitt of New Paltz, who happened along shortly after the accident happened, but died en route. Mrs. Stacey and Mrs. Kelly were given first-aid treatment by Dr. Robert Reid of New Paltz, who had been summoned, and were then taken to the hospital. Mr. Kelly was found to be suffering from injuries to her chest. Her condition this morning was reported as good.

Coroner Lester D. DuBois of New Paltz, who also made an investigation, ordered an autopsy performed on Mr. Stacey and it was done last night by Dr. Jacob Jacobson and Dr. Van Gaasbeek. It is understood that death was due to a fractured skull and internal injuries. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Millsburgh of Walden.

UPA Food Show to Be Held Week of April 12 in City

The UPA is rapidly completing arrangements for the holding of the annual food show in the municipal auditorium on Broadway the week of April 12, and it is expected that the show this year will be even larger and better than previous shows. The annual banquet of the retail grocers held in conjunction with the food show will be staged Wednesday evening, April 14, at the Golden Rule Inn.

Last year the banquet was attended by 400 and proved one of the most successful events of its kind ever held by the association. Many manufacturers and their representatives have planned to attend the banquet and food show this year, and the committee is again planning to seat 400 at the banquet tables. Milton Friedman, chairman of the banquet committee, has associated with him on that committee, Harry Jump of Port Jervis and Leslie Elwyn of Woodstock. The committee announced today that the banquet and food show of this third annual event would prove even better than the two preceding banquets.

The UPA food show will be held the entire week in the auditorium, opening on Monday, April 12, and it is expected that the exhibit this year will be even larger and more attractive than the show of last year which proved such a success.

SEEK TO SET ASIDE

DEED IN ESTATE

Colina M. Ferris is bringing an action in Supreme Court to set aside a deed of conveyance of property at Mt. Tremper, claiming that when Elizabeth F. Pfuger and Anna C. C. Howe, executrices, of the estate of her father, the late Senator John Davidson, transferred title to the Mt. Tremper farm to Llewellyn Pfuger they had no right to do so. John Davidson for several years owned a farm of some 120 acres with a dwelling and two cottages on the Mt. Tremper-Willow road in the town of Woodstock.

At the time of his death in February, 1932, he also owned property in New York, including a Bronx apartment house. There were seven children. At the time of his death there were some $900 in notes given by Mr. Davidson to his daughter's husband, Llewellyn Pfuger, and it is the contention of the defendant, Elizabeth F. Pfuger, that she and Mrs. Howe transferred title to the Mt. Tremper farm to Mr. Pfuger to secure the payment of the notes. Mrs. Howe now seeks to be released from the act as executrix. Colina M. Ferris seeks to have the deed set aside on the grounds of fraud. N. LeVan H. Ferris, and Walter Bannister appear as attorneys for the defendant, Elizabeth F. Pfuger.

William S. P. Davidson, son of deceased, was the first witness called. He testified that following the breaking of a leg back in 1932 or thereabouts he lived at the Pfuger home and later took meals there. During his residence there he said Mrs. Pfuger, following death of her father, stated that she was anxious over the foreclosure of a mortgage on a Bronx apartment house and went to see an attorney for the holder of the mortgage. On her return she told the witness that there was no danger of a foreclosure but said later she wanted security for the $900 notes which her husband held against the estate. Mr. Davidson testified that he told her that at any time she wanted the money, he was sure she could make up the $900 fund and pay the notes. He said there had not been sufficient money in the estate to pay all debts but he had told his sister repeatedly that if she demanded her $900 in money it could be arranged. Next thing he knew about the farm, which it was supposed the estate owned, was when there was an effort to sell a portion of the land. Mrs. Pfuger then disclosed that she controlled the farm. Later a deed was given by the executrices to Mr. Pfuger and it is this deed which it is now sought to set aside on the grounds of fraud.

Plaintiff contends that the executrices had no right to convey the property to Mr. Pfuger without notice in the hands or by order of the surrogate.

William Davidson said that prior to the banking holiday there had been $1,000 on deposit in the Mt. Vernon Trust Company which would have taken care of the Pfuger notes for $900.

The Davidson will was probated in Bronx county in January of 1932, the year following the death of Mr. Davidson. At that time there was not sufficient cash in the estate to pay debts owed. The witness said, he testified that he had told his sister several times that if she demanded the $900 from the estate that the heirs could make it up and pay the claim. The transfer of the Mt. Tremper farm to Mr. Pfuger he said was not done to him until some time after the deed was given and after he had told his sister and her husband that the $900 would be paid if demanded.

Ulster County to Get Thousands from State Budget Expenditures

Central Hudson Co. Grants Pay Raise, Reduction in Hours

It was announced today by Ernest R. Acker, president of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, that effective May 1, the normal work week of shift workers in the plants and substations of the company would be reduced from 48 hours to 40 hours without decrease in total weekly compensation. This conforms to the 40 hour work week now in effect for other employees of the company. In addition, the hourly rates of practically all manual workers, including line forces, meter readers, meter shop men, service men, garage forces, gas street crews, etc., will be increased by at least 5 percent. These employees who are now on a 40 hour normal week will be paid straight time up to 44 hours per week and time and a half for all time over 44 hours per week.

Effective on the same date, non-manual labor workers receiving less than $2,400 per year will receive a 5 percent increase in compensation, except that no such increase shall result in a total compensation higher than $2,400 per year. The compensation of employees receiving $2,400 per year or more will be reviewed individually before May 1 to determine whether modification is justified.

The announced adjustments apply only to regular full time employees of the company.

CHICKENS WOULD'NT COAT

AS PEDESTRIANS UNDER LAW

Albany, March 29 (AP)—Chickens with propensities for crossing the road, would lose their amateur standing as pedestrians under a proposal on New York's legislative calendar.

Under a bill of Assemblyman Herbert A. Hagg, Genesee Republican, wandering hens would be exempted by the present law requiring the operator of an automobile carrying farm animals to report the incident to the owner or local officials.

Complaints of traveling salesmen who lost their drivers' licenses for killing chickens they said they never saw organized the union here and know they struck, prompted Hagg to introduce the proposed amendment.

Annihilation of Large Cities Like New York by Enemy Airplanes in War Considered Fantastic

Madrid, March 29 (AP)—The theory often advanced as the direct result of the Luftwaffe's attack on London, that New York could be razed and then its population slaughtered by the camp of airplanes, is considered fantastic by military experts here.

Albany, March 29 (Special)—Passage by the legislature of the Governor's executive budget, totalling over $365,000,000, means the appropriation of thousands of dollars to state institutions and agencies in Ulster county.

Among the items included in the "million dollar a day" executive budget, are $5,500 for personal service, and $2,285.20 for maintenance and operation, for the Ulster County Alcohol Beverage Control Board. The personal service item provides for two members at $500 each, an executive officer, $2,000; an investigator at $1,900 and a stenographer at $900, while the maintenance and operation figure includes $15, for printing and advertising, $115 for supplies and equipment, $1,200 for traveling expenses, $195.20 for communication, $10 for fixed charges and contributions, and $7.50 for rent.

Included in the funds allocated to the various counties in highway district No. 3, by the State Public Works Department, is an item of $182,600 for repairs to roads for Ulster county.

Other items in the budget, include the following: Senate House, Kingston; custodian, $1,000; assistant custodian, $800; janitor, $1,200; maintenance and operation, $1,200; liabilities, $10.25.

Wallkill Prison, Wallkill; personal service, $242,350; maintenance and operation, $126,650; equipment for a new dairy barn, $1,100.

New Paltz State Normal School; personal service, $165,500; maintenance and operation, $28,520.

Repeat of Death Sought

Albany, March 29 (AP)—Repeat of the law teacher's oath bill and reinstatement of Professor Jerome Davis to the Yale faculty, school, was sought today by the newly-organized New York State Federation of Teachers Union. Resolutions urging these steps were passed by delegates from local teacher organizations of Broome county who met yesterday in Albany to discuss the union here and know they struck, prompted Hagg to introduce the proposed amendment.

Friend and Foe Capitalize On Supreme Court Verdicts To Support Reform Views

"Nut-Bread" School "Madness" Causes Battle at Roslyn

Roslyn, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—Educational methods of the "little old red schoolhouse" have been relegated to the limbo of the kerosene lamp, the village blacksmith, and the one-hoss shay among 1,750 students in this Long Island community.

The clash, long smoldering, flared into the open when 400 parents held a mass meeting and protested to the Roslyn Board of Education that the idea of teaching their children by having them learn how to bake nut-bread was "madness."

Even the explanation of Frederick Robert Wegner, progressive superintendent of schools, that the children learned how to multiply, add and divide by mixing the nut-bread ingredients failed to soothe some of the more mothers and fathers. Heatedly, they insisted that Junior could learn to juggle figures much better by studying the multiplication table.

"Half-baked," muttered some of the parents, referring to the idea rather than the nut-bread, which they ate and liked.

Heading the opposition, Herman Herbert, Jr., a Fordham University graduate, explained:

"We're not fighting entirely to get the old rigid schoolroom back. The idea is to combine the better points of the so-called 'progressive' or activity program—which everybody admits has good points—with some degree of formal education."

Herbert complained that Roslyn school children are being taught individuality and originality at the expense of fundamental knowledge.

Herbert also said that teachers in the Roslyn system "psycho-analyze the poor kids so much that the children get the impression they are only subjects of a scientific experiment—a kind of educational guinea pigs."

NOTE BOOK ONLY NEW TRIPLE MURDER CLUE

New York, March 30 (AP)—Discovery of a memorandum book containing 100 names in the Beekman Hills apartment where 20-year-old artist's model Veronica "Ronnie" Gideon, her mother, and a roomer were slain Easter Sunday provided the only new clue today to New York's latest murder mystery.

While detectives still questioned George (Freddy) Gueret, squat, husky unemployed chauffeur at nearby 51st street station house, Lieutenant Martin Owens announced that police still question every person listed in the book.

While referred to as a "diary," Owens said the book, a cheap, paper-backed, note book kept in pencil, chiefly listed artists for whom the popular model posed, friends with whom she had "dates," their addresses and telephone numbers.

It was not, he said, a day to day record of her activities.

Police appear to attach little significance to the latest of meager clues that include tiny bits of grey hair and shreds of skin taken from under the fingernails of the model, strangled to death and assaulted.

Autopsy findings showed that the model had been drinking heavily before she arrived home at 3 a. m. Easter morning and apparently encountered the murderer who earlier had threatened and assaulted her mother, Mary Gideon, and stabbed to death Frank Hyman, the English waiter who occupied a room in the five-room apartment.

Detectives professed to be "up against a stone wall" as they continued their questioning of Gueret, 16-year-old former chauffeur for Joseph P. Kamp, president of the Bank of America, after announcing yesterday that his discharge from technical custody was only a matter of hours.

Needed, 1 Farm Before April 19 for the Massulus

New York, March 30 (AP)—It was a bad situation when Mrs. Mary Massula went to the Bridge Plaza police court in Brooklyn about the two sheep and 10 goats, because she was rather frightened and a little indignant that anyone would complain.

She stood before Magistrate Nicholas Pinto and said yes, they did have two sheep and 10 goats in the basement of their house but not for long, Judge, because they were looking for a farm. Her husband was out looking for the farm, she added.

The magistrate nodded and adjourned the case to April 19, while Mr. Massula looked. Mrs. Massula learned.

She did not mention the 65 rabbits, one pony, one mule, three cats, five dogs, several horses and a flock of chickens in the back yard.

Neither did the summons.

Aged Man Dies, Wife Hurt, Troopers Shot At Troy Today

Troy, N. Y., March 30 (AP)—An aged man was found shot to death, and his wife critically wounded, by two State Troopers who were themselves shot and wounded today by a man they identified as the couple's son.

The shooting occurred in Latham, a hamlet some eight miles north of Albany.

Edward H. Ireland, 75, was killed. His wife, 74, was critically wounded.

State Troopers P. J. Fitzpatrick, shot in the shoulder, and C. J. Konior, shot in the arm, were brought to a hospital here.

The troopers and the Rev. Michael J. Dwyer, pastor of St. Ambrose Catholic Church, who summoned them, said the gun was wielded by John Ireland, 40.

Father Dwyer, who was conducting Mass in his church across the road from the Ireland home, said he heard shots and rushed over to see what had occurred.

The priest said he immediately summoned the state police.

He said John Ireland, whom he described as having "acted strangely" of late, had in some manner obtained possession of a shotgun.

Father Dwyer said the younger Ireland had thrown his mother downstairs after shooting his father. Additional troopers from the Troy barracks were rushed to the scene and disarmed Ireland.

At the Samaritan Hospital in Troy, it was reported that Fitzpatrick had received 75 shots in the shoulder, while one of Konior's eyeballs had been penetrated by shot. Konior also was wounded in the forehead and right hand.

Senator Minton Contends 5 to 4 Verdict on Washington Minimum Wage Law Upholds Roosevelt's Attitude.

BURKE ATTITUDE

Professor Griswold Urges Acceptance of Ordway Amendment Limiting Terms to 18 Years.

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, March 30 — Both sides in the judiciary reorganization dispute endeavored today to capitalize on the Supreme Court's elimination of what President Roosevelt once called the "No Man's Land" on minimum wage legislation for women.

Senator Minton (D., Ind.), an advocate of the Roosevelt bill, contended the court's 5 to 4 decision yesterday upholding the Washington State wage law and reversing its previous position "showed it is a human institution and proves what the President has been talking about."

Senator Burke (D., Neb.), a leader of the opposition, drew different conclusions from the minimum wage decision and the unanimous approval of the revised Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium and the Railroad Labor Act.

"First," he said, "the rulings illustrated the present court can and will interpret the Constitution liberally in the light of modern conditions, so legislation to affect the majority viewpoint—even if it were proper—is not needed."

"Second, sound procedure is to draft legislation carefully, as was done with the substitute mortgage law, to meet constitutional points made in adverse court decisions."

Forum Provided

Resumption of hearings on the Administration Bill provided a forum for some of the disputants to take up where they left off in a spirited five-hour Senate debate yesterday.

First witness was Prof. Erwin S. Griswold of the Harvard Law School.

Agreeing with Roosevelt supporters that the Supreme Court had at times taken a "too narrow" view of the constitution, he said the proper corrective method was by constitutional amendment.

In effect, Griswold seconded objections to the administration proposal made last night by Senator Glass (D., Va.) in a radio address.

"No threat to representative democracy since the foundation of the republic," said Glass, "was exceeded in its evil portents this attempt to pack the Supreme Court and thus destroy the purity and independence of this tribunal of last resort."

Several members of the Judiciary Committee obtained copies of the latest Supreme Court decisions in preparation for the second week of testimony by opponents of the measure to enlarge the court unless older justices retire.

Special Interest

Their comments indicated special interest in Chief Justice Hughes' opinion for the majority in the wage case, and the sharp dissent by Justice Sutherland.

These two statements brought to the fore the question whether the constitution should be interpreted as flexible or as specific.

The chief justice said re-examination of the issue presented was warranted because of "economic conditions which have superseded" since the District of Columbia Wage Law was thrown out 16 years ago.

It was on the basis of that original decision that the highest court last year held against the New York Wage Act, when Justice Roberts voted with Sutherland and Justices Butler, Van Devanter and McHenry.

Yesterday, Justice Roberts sided with the chief justice and Justices Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo.

Senator Black (D., Ala.) summed up for the administration forces in the Senate.

Clear Illustration

"This is but a clear illustration of the fact that the Supreme Court is not a static body," said Chief Justice Hughes in the said. "We are under a Constitution, the final leg in the journey, a 1,792 mile flight from Pago Pago, American Samoa. The four-motored flying boat which left Alameda, Calif., right March 12, arrived here at 2:34 a. m. (24 a. m. eastern standard time). Heavy weather hampered the ship from a time shortly after the takeoff from Pago Pago."

"There who like to build the 500 of rights in this light," he declared, "they have a pretty brain map of they think the American people have a brain map."

Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.), a strong supporter of America's view, said he welcomed the change in the Supreme Court's attitude on women's wages.

He requested his attention to the administration bill, saying he was not sure he had not done the court in some confidence in its ability to do the job.

Among the other Senate supporters of the bill were:

Sunday, a bitter cold wind prevailed in the reservoir country, while snow squalls at times obscured the Wittenberg range. The maple sap made a brave attempt to circulate for a few minutes in the early afternoon, but the feeble drip soon turned to icicles. FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

Death And a Dog

New York—Robert Exton, 25, has a blind dog—a little wire-haired fox terrier. Despite its infirmity, he has cared for it three years.

He asserted that Joseph Johnson, 49, an apartment house doorman, kicked the dog. A fight ensued. Johnson fell with a fractured skull and died two hours later.

Exton was held on a charge of manslaughter.

The Three Are Good, Too

Alliance, O.—Mrs. W. H. Shaw of Alliance reported that her cousin, Roy Koozitz of Bloomington, Ind., bought a used car in Cleveland for $150.

When he cleaned the antique, he found a dime dated 1821 under a seat cushion.

A coin expert offered him $450 for the dime.

A Court Opinion

Denver.—That legal pair, "and/or"—which flows from a lawyer's pen as easily as the love and dove from a song-writer—has been liked by Colorado's Chief Justice Haslett P. Burke.

In a full page of "and/or" criticism he described the phrase as (1) a pollution of the English language, (2) a barbarism, (3) a Janus-faced verbal monstrosity, (4) a nameless thing, and (5) a waste.

And he said lawyers using it would encourage the court's displeasure.

Boozing

Dotyville, Wis.—Jack Brown was knocked unconscious by his wooden leg.

The heavy talgate on his livestock truck fell down, breaking his wooden leg. A fragment was sent flying into the air. It came down on Brown's head, felling him.

At a farewell party given on Tuesday for Dr. George Lambert, by the Level Club and Ladies of the Level Club, General Walter D. McCaw gave a farewell address. Other tributes were spoken by the Rev. Harvey I. Todd and Victor N. Lasher, regretting Dr. Lambert's decision to locate his practice in Putnam, Conn., and praising his work in Woodstock.

A meeting of the Ulster County Artists Union was held in the Sawkill Gallery on Tuesday.

A meeting of project workers on the Ulster County Federal art project was held at the home of Mrs. Mary Hunt on Friday evening.

Dietz Residence Burned on Sunday

Woodstock, March 29.—The recently completed home of Miss Annette Dietz and her mother, Mrs. Dietz, was gutted by fire at about 11 o'clock on Sunday morning when an exploding oil heater set fire to the house.

Members of the Woodstock Fire Co. arrived very promptly with the engine, but were obliged to drive nearly a quarter of a mile away to reach water. The fire had already gained such rapid headway that all thought of using the booster tank had to be abandoned. The house is located in Plochman Lane, just opposite the country club, but water had to be pumped from the Sawkill at the bridge by Riosky's Falls. In spite of the unavoidable delay in reaching water and connecting the hose the firemen were able to save the framework of the house, though the interior and all personal property were destroyed. An attempt was made to remove the furniture, but the heavy smoke made that impossible.

Miss Dietz and her mother, shaken and nervously exhausted, were taken to the home of their neighbor, Mrs. Samuel Gregg.

Janet Gaynor says: "Leading artists of the screen prefer Luckies"

"I live at the beach most of the year and there is hardly a weekend that a number of friends don't drop in. Naturally, I keep several brands of cigarettes on hand for guests, but the Luckies are always the first to disappear. I suppose it's just natural that Luckies would be the favorite brand because most of my friends in pictures have discovered that the long hours of rehearsing and shooting at the studio place a severe tax on the throat. Leading artists of the screen prefer Luckies because they are a light smoke that sympathizes with tender throats."

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Gaynor verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

Looking up the reference in the hymn book the father read: "Sorrow vanquish'd, labor ended, Jordan passed."

Pain And Penury Go With Birth Of A Book

By JOHN SELBY

Associated Press Book Editor

New York—You begin selling a novel before you write it. You do this by deciding whether you are writing to express something you feel deep in yourself, or whether you want to turn out a product to please the reading public.

The latter is financially the safest decision, and even it is not at all safe. The exception is, of course, a story which is inside you and cries to be told. Nearly everything Pearl S. Buck has written is in this class; so is Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind."

Make An Outline

You'd better make an outline before you start to write. It's quite a trick to keep the detail of a long work in your mind, and you'll find if you try that you are changing your hero's name, or marrying the wrong people. This is by no means an invariable rule, however. Charles Dickens wrote some rather passable fiction without an outline.

Sit down in a quiet corner and fill out your skeleton. Or at any rate sit down. Jane Austen didn't mind noise; she wrote her novels in a corner of the family drawing room, with her sisters galloping around.

Later read what you have written, and tear it up. This because the most likely mistake is to try to include everything one knows in the first novel. The trick, experts agree, is to eliminate subjects carefully, and then tell all about the restricted field chosen.

There are exceptions to this rule, also. Thomas Wolfe literally empties himself into each novel.

Get An Agent

After your manuscript is done for the second time or perhaps the third, hurry to a copyist. If it's in long-hand, have him use good bond paper, not transparent, for the first copy, and have him make two others at least. Don't spend money on fancy bladders to hold the sheets together—run bolts through them, or clip them into chapters. And learn to use a typewriter, unless you are a bundle of exceptions like Wolfe. He writes in long-hand. So does Hervey Allen.

Use a black typewriter ribbon. Colored typewriter has been known to drive publishers' readers mad. Don't waste your time sending your manuscript to individual publishers. The other day one of the largest and best of them was unable to remember a single book accepted by his house from the hundreds mailed in by hopeful unknowns.

Either hire yourself to New York, and make a lot of what are called "contacts" or get yourself an agent. The best way to find the latter is to impose yourself on the kindness of some successful writer—don't pick blindly, and don't take up too quickly with the ones who want pay in advance. Some of these are doubtless honest, but a lot are not. Fifty-seven agents are listed in the New York classified telephone directory.

Then It Goes The Rounds
If the agent thinks your product is saleable to his "contacts" he will take you on. If he doesn't, try another. You pay him 10 per cent of your takings, if any, for knowing the ropes.

Then you wait. Your not less than 40,000 words of heartblood are being sent around and around. Mostly the manuscript will get one reading; sometimes that is enough, as in the case of Pearl Buck's first book.

Sometimes a publisher will refuse a script, and wish later he hadn't. Emil Ludwig's "Napoleon" had a generous number of turn-downs, and proved an enormous success.

If your novel passes the publisher's first reader, it will be given to a second man. Perhaps to a third. These reports are given the editor, and usually a conference is called. Sometimes the sales manager sits in, and he is often the fly in the ointment.

TABARCO HEIGHTS.
Tabarco Heights, March 29.—A supper will be given by the ladies at the Lathford M. E. Church on Friday evening, April 2. Everybody is welcome.

Those who were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ann Wyckup on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hinkley and son, Robert, of Pine Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Homer J. Wyckup and son, James; Mrs. David Hinkley and son, Harold, all of Westchester; Mrs. Jeanette of Accord, Frank Hinkley and William Terrill, all of this place.

Miss Hazel Barringer of Somerville spent Friday with Mrs. Harold Keator.

Irving Van Vleet and Elmer Hinkley are getting out logs for J. Tabarco at Northburgh.

Mrs. Cris Kelder, Charlie Kruer and Frank Parks and two sons of Kingston were in this place on Sunday calling on friends.

Elmer Hinkley was a dinner guest on Sunday of Mrs. Mary Terrill and brother, Byron.

Myra Terrill was welcomed by John Mills on Tuesday last re-

FIRST—YOU WRITE IT

AND HAVE IT TYPED

—TAKE IT TO AN AGENT

—OR DIRECT TO A PUBLISHER

—THEN YOU SIT AND WAIT—

At one time a certain publisher had a rule that he would take any first novel for sale that he could see a 1,200-copy sale. Most won't. They want to see at least 2,000 sales ahead, which usually let them out.

Not Very Profitable
A little simple mathematics will explain your financial position. You must not expect to sell more than 2,000 copies, unless you are a Margaret Mitchell.

When you sign your contract you probably will be given an advance against royalties. The largest advance you can hope for will be $500, and before you receive any royalties, this will be subtracted. The usual beginning author's "cut" is 10 per cent of gross sales.

Sometimes serialization in one of the slick magazines in advance of book publication can be arranged. This is a thousand to one chance in the case of an unknown, but it pays from $1,500 to $20,000 and more.

Writing novels doesn't pay very well, you will notice. What keeps people trying is the chance that they may think up a Scarlett O'Hara some day. Scarlett's creator stands to make at least a million.

Shell Co. to Hold Meeting, Banquet

Approximately 250 dealers and employees of the Shell Union Oil Corporation from this vicinity will meet at the Hotel Palatine, Newburgh, Wednesday night, March 31, at 7 o'clock for a sales meeting and banquet.

The meeting is being held by Shell to acquaint its dealers and personnel in this vicinity with its advertising and sales promotion plans for the coming year. Similar meetings are being held all over Shell's eastern territory.

Dudley G. Lester, Hudson River Division Manager, and Gordon H. Atkinson, Division Sales Manager, will be the principal speakers at the meeting. J. R. Cecil, local Shell representative, will act as toastmaster. George D. Stewart, Division Operations Manager; William J. Malloy, Division Office Manager and a number of other Hudson River Division executives will attend the meeting.

A technicolor slide film, entitled "Shell's 1937 Selling Parade" will be used to present graphically the advertising and sales promotion plans for 1937. Large size advertisements in the greatest number of newspapers used by Shell in the last seven years will serve as the back-log of the advertising program. The newspaper campaign will be supplemented by national magazine, poster and radio advertising.

A sound motion picture, which was produced in Hollywood for Shell, will present the company's merchandising plans for the coming year. An orchestra and a number of headline vaudeville acts will furnish the entertainment at the banquet.

BUDGET FOR BETTER LIVING

Jim and Jack earn the same salary. But what a difference in their way of living!

Quarrels over the bills make Jim's family wretched. Jack's family budgets. You'd think, seeing their charming home, smart clothes, new car, that Jack earned much more than Jim.

Of course a budget doesn't give you more money to spend. It helps you get the most for what you have. The first step in budgeting is to call a family council and decide what you want most. An expensive house like the Joneses? Nice! But wait, that would take 30 per cent of your income, leave nothing for the long trips you like to take in the car. You decide you'll live in a house that costs up only 20 per cent—and fix it up as attractively as clever headwork and handwork will make it.

Next split your income into six divisions—shelter, food, operating expenses, clothing, advancement, savings. Make your allotment for advancement large enough to take care of your beloved motor trips. Whip your other expenditure into line.

Our 48-page booklet, HOW TO BUDGET YOUR INCOME, helps you get more fun for your money, and a feeling of security, too. Sample budgets from real life. Special ruled pages for keeping your own budget plan.

Send 15c for our booklet, HOW TO BUDGET YOUR INCOME, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 18th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

MENUS

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

A Variety of Toasts

(Toasts may be served for any meal)

Cinnamon Toast
8 pieces toast
6 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
vanilla

Mix the butter with vanilla and sugar. Spread on the toast and sprinkle with the cinnamon. Broil or bake 4 minutes or until very hot. Serve immediately.

French Toast Bites
1 egg yolks
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
6 pieces bread or toast (leftover)
4 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
fat

Beat the yolks. Add sugar, salt and milk. Pour into a shallow dish of some sort. Dip the bread into this mixture, coating it well. Do not let it remain long enough to become soaked, however. Place immediately into the fat which has been heated in a frying pan until it is smoking. Brown the toast well on both sides. Serve with topping.

Topping
1/2 tablespoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup milk

Mix the ingredients and spread on the hot toast.

Toast Fingers
6 slices bread
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Cut the bread into strips one by three inches. Dip in the rest of the ingredients which have been blended. Arrange the strips on a shallow pan and broil or bake until well browned. (About 7 minutes will be required.) Serve hot.

Spread marshmallows over the top of creamed puffs in the place of meringues. Put the marshmallows two-thirds of an inch apart on the top of the pie filling and bake for 10 minutes in a moderately slow oven. They will puff up, become a delicate brown color and form a delicious topping that is especially appealing to children.

About nine hundred samples of the newer and older varieties and strains of vegetables were tested during 1936 at Cornell University. Growers have the chance to experiment with new sorts, but they are urged not to make any major changes from their usual varieties in planting this spring.

THE SAFE, SENSIBLE
CONSTIPATION

Every one knows the dangers of constipation. Pills and drugs usually bring only temporary relief. That's because common constipation is due to weak bowels in "bulk."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains "bulk" that does not break down in the body as does that of many leafy vegetables. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water and forms a soft mass that gently sponges the intestines.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. In addition to "bulk," it gives vitamins B to tone up the system, and iron for the blood. It is a healthful way to get rid of constipation and all its evils.

Eat two tablespoons daily with milk or cream—three times a day in severe cases. Or use it in making bran cereal, breads, in salads or soups. Consulted by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACQUES

New York, March 30 (UP)—Steel and copper shares provided impetus for a mild and selective rally in the stock market today.

Trading interest was light, however, and volume was at a low ebb. Transactions approximated 300,000 shares.

Brokers said many of their customers were holding to a do-nothing attitude pending final settlement of the Chrysler controversy and clarification of other strike problems.

U. S. government securities were a bit lower and corporate bonds uneven. Rubber and cotton futures pushed into new high recovery territory. Grains were mixed.

Tilting toward the greater part of the day were Anaconda, Kennecott, Western Union, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Smelting, du Pont, General Electric, Continental Corp., Great Northern Ore, Crown Zellerbach and U. S. Industrial Alcohol.

Homestake Mining fell back along with Boeing, Douglas Aircraft and Seaboard Oil.

Doing little either way were American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, North American, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern Railroad, Baltimore & Ohio, Texas Corp., and Standard Oil of N. J.

Two Slightly Hurt Both Cars Damaged

As David Van Wagenen of West Hurley was driving up Broadway about 6:30 o'clock Monday evening a truck owned by Martin Dixon of Clinton avenue and driven by Leon Gorsline of 138 Clinton avenue, drove out of Liberty street into Broadway both cars collided.
